The application deadline is 5 p.m. January 30, 2004. Drawing results will be available April 28, 2004.
- 3 Up to 15 percent of the general buck deer permits have been reserved for youth deer hunters, 18 years of age or younger on the opening day of the general archery deer hunt, who do not apply in a group. Youth are automatically entered into the drawing based upon their date-of-birth.
- 4 Youth deer hunters: Any person 18 years of age or younger on the opening day of the general archery deer hunt may hunt all three general deer seasons. In order to do so, that person must obtain either a general season (rifle) or a general muzzleloader permit for a specific region. See Section XIX.
- 5 A special youth bull elk hunting opportunity is available through the drawing. (YH499) See Section XX.D.
- 6 Limited entry and general permit numbers will not be provided in the hunt tables in order to utilize up-to-date harvest and population census data. The 2004 permit numbers will be set by the Wildlife Board after the application period but prior to the big game drawing.
- 7 Personal and business checks, money orders, cashier's checks, debit cards and American Express, Discover, MasterCard and VISA credit cards are accepted for payment. Checks drawn on an out-of-state account are not accepted.
- 8 Permit fees may be charged to the credit or debit card prior to the post date of the drawing, if successful.
- 9 Nonresident or resident general deer permits remaining after all choices have been evaluated in the drawing will be issued to the next applicant without regard to residency. See Section XVIII.H.

License Suspension

The Utah Division of Wildlife Resources has the authority to suspend hunting and fishing privileges for wildlife violations if the Division deems that the violation was committed knowingly, intentionally or recklessly. Any person who is convicted of, pleads guilty to, no contest to, or enters a plea in abeyance to, a wildlife violation may be subject to administrative suspension. Notification of such action is generally served only after criminal proceedings have been concluded. Any Utah order of suspension may be recognized in other states participating in the Wildlife Violator Compact.

Responsible OHV use

The Utah Division of Wildlife Resources encourages responsible OHV use. While most OHV users are responsible, misuse results in disturbance to wildlife, damage to wildlife habitat, and personal injury.

Please be aware that unlawful OHV use is a criminal offense. Utah Division of Wildlife Resources' Conservation Officers and State Parks & Recreation's Rangers regularly enforce all OHV regulations, including:

-  riding an OHV in closed or restricted areas and roadways;
-  harassment of wildlife;
-  helmet-law regulations; and
-  OHV operator age restriction regulations.

Many designated roads and trails on public lands are available to responsible OHV users. You may obtain a copy of a "Travel Opportunity Guide" from the appropriate federal land management agencies (USDA Forest Service or Bureau of Land Management). Please refer to the "Travel Opportunity Guide" for locations where you can ride. Under Utah state law, all public lands are closed to OHV use unless designated open by map, sign, or description. The closures protect sensitive natural resources such as watersheds and valued wildlife habitats, and ensure public safety.

The Utah Division of Wildlife Resources owns and manages several hundred thousand acres of Wildlife Management Areas across the state for wildlife purposes. Controlled OHV use on these lands protects wildlife and their habitats.

Utah law also requires youth, ages 8 to 16, to receive OHV certification before operating an OHV on open public-land roads and trails. Certification classes teach safety and instill ethics in young OHV users. Remember, to be a responsible rider also means receiving proper education.

Please call

1-800-OHV-RIDE

to enroll in the OHV safety certification classes.

Protect your privilege, stay on designated roads and trails. Have fun by taking time out to hunt, fish, photograph or watch wildlife.

Be a responsible OHV user so you can help ensure a wildlife heritage for future generations.

Help Stop Poaching 1-800-662-DEER

Poaching is a crime

Simply defined "poaching" is any illegal taking of fish, game or nongame wildlife.

- It is not a crime committed against the Division of Wildlife Resources, but a crime affecting all citizens of the State of Utah.
- Poachers steal from consumptive and nonconsumptive users alike. Present and future generations of law abiding outdoorsmen are the victims.
- Poachers erode public support of hunting and fishing. They threaten the existence of our sport. In short, poaching is a serious crime, and poachers are nothing more than thieves.

Take a stand!

of future generations
to enjoy it

In 2001 and 2002, DWR Conservation Officers investigated the illegal killing of 39 pronghorn, 48 moose, 463 elk and 840 deer.

Ethics: "A peculiar virtue in wildlife ethics is that the hunter ordinarily has no gallery to approve or disapprove of his conduct. Whatever his acts, they are dictated by his own conscience, rather than by a mob of onlookers. It is difficult to exaggerate the importance of this fact." —Aldo Leopold

Chronic Wasting Disease

WHAT IS CHRONIC WASTING DISEASE?

Chronic wasting disease (CWD) is a relatively rare neurological disease found only in wild and captive deer and elk herds in North America. It is generally found in less than one percent of wild elk and between one to 15 percent of wild deer populations.

CWD belongs to a family of diseases known as transmissible spongiform encephalopathies (TSE) or prion diseases. Other TSE diseases include scrapie in domestic sheep, bovine spongiform encephalopathies or mad cow disease, and Creutzfeldt-Jakob disease in humans. Although CWD shares certain features with other TSE diseases, it is a distinct disease apparently affecting only deer and elk.

WHAT ARE THE CLINICAL SIGNS OF CWD?

Chronic wasting disease attacks the brains of infected deer and elk, causing the animals to become emaciated, display abnormal behavior, lose bodily function and eventually die.

Other symptoms include excessive salivation, loss of appetite, excessive thirst and urination, holding the head in a lowered position, and drooping ears.

There is currently no evidence that CWD is transmissible to humans. There is also no scientific evidence that chronic wasting disease can be naturally transmitted to livestock or other big game animals.

HOW IS CWD DIAGNOSED?

The prion that causes CWD accumulates in certain parts of an infected deer or elk including the brain, eyes, spinal cord, lymph nodes, tonsils, and spleen. The brain stem and/or lymph nodes are collected from dead deer or elk and examined microscopically using special techniques to identify the CWD prion.

CWD IN UTAH

Chronic wasting disease was first discovered in Colorado in the 1960s. CWD is now found in several states, including Utah. The Utah Division of Wildlife Resources (UDWR) first began looking for chronic wasting disease in 1998. More than 700 samples were taken from hunter-harvested deer and elk in 1998 and 1999. None of these samples tested positive for CWD. Because CWD-positive deer were discovered in western Colorado in 2002, the UDWR stepped up its surveillance program and looked more aggressively for the disease, testing nearly 1,100 deer. The first positive animal was identified in 2002 as a result of this testing effort near Vernal. In 2003, nearly 3,100 hunter-harvested mule deer were tested and some new cases of CWD were identified. For an update on CWD locations in Utah please view the UDWR website: wildlife.utah.gov. The UDWR will continue to conduct an annual surveillance program for the disease.

HOW CAN HUNTERS HELP?

Immediately report all deer that appear sick or emaciated to a UDWR office, biologist or officer.

Salt Lake Office	(801) 538-4700
Southeastern Region	(435) 636-0260
Central Region	(801) 491-5678
Northeastern Region	(435) 781-9453
Southern Region	(435) 865-6100
Northern Region	(801) 476-2740

Deer hunters can also help by providing the heads of harvested game animals for CWD testing at checking stations throughout the state. Hunters who harvest trophy animals from areas where testing is needed may be requested to cooperate by removing the cape from the deer in the field or by taking the head to a Division office immediately after it is caped. The UDWR can then remove a tissue sample from the head for testing.

CAN HUNTERS HAVE THEIR DEER AND ELK TESTED FOR CWD?

The UDWR has identified sample units throughout the state from which it will collect tissue samples from harvested deer. Checking stations will be established throughout the state during hunting season to collect these samples. Samples collected by UDWR will be tested without cost to the hunter. The UDWR is not currently conducting a surveillance program to test elk because of the low prevalence rate of CWD. Hunters who have their deer sampled by the UDWR can find the results of the test on the UDWR Web site: wildlife.utah.gov/cwdtesting/. Please allow 6-8 weeks for processing. To access the results, hunters will need the submission number from the data collection receipt issued at the time their deer is sampled. Furthermore, hunters will be notified personally, if their animal tests positive for CWD.

Anyone who harvests a deer or elk outside of UDWR sample units, and wishes to have it tested for chronic wasting disease may do so at their own expense. They can call a UDWR office or check the division website for the location of public testing facilities.

The sampling and testing procedures established by the UDWR are intended only to serve as a method to screen for evidence of CWD infection. They are not meant to provide assurance of meat quality for human consumption. The tests that are performed have a high accuracy rate, but no testing process can provide 100% accuracy. The sensitivity and accuracy of the tests, or ability to detect CWD, can vary depending on the quality of the sample and the stage of the infection.

SHOULD UTAH HUNTERS BE CONCERNED ABOUT CWD?

The World Health Organization has stated: "There is currently no evidence that CWD in cervidae (deer and elk) is transmitted to humans."

While there is currently no evidence that CWD affects humans, hunters may wish to take these simple precautions when handling deer and elk carcasses:

- Do not harvest or eat animals that appear sick.
- Wear rubber or latex gloves when field dressing and processing game meat.
- Bone out the meat from the deer or elk and remove all fat, membranes and connective tissue.
- Minimize handling of the brain, spinal cord, spleen and lymph nodes. Do not cut through the spinal cord except to remove the head.
- Do not consume the brain, spinal cord, eyes, spleen, tonsils or lymph nodes.
- Do not use household utensils to field dress or process meat. Thoroughly clean all knives, equipment and work areas with a 50/50 solution of household bleach and water.

Bonus points

- * Bonus points may only be obtained through the initial Big game drawing. The application period is January 2–30, 2004.
- * You must be eligible for the bonus point for which you are applying or your application will be rejected. For example, if you are eligible to apply for a bucks, bulls and once-in-a-lifetime permit for a particular species, you are eligible to apply for a bonus point for that species.
- * You must include a $5 handling fee for each bonus point for which you are applying.
- * You can only apply for one limited entry or premium limited entry bonus point and one once-in-a-lifetime bonus point.
- * If you apply for a premium limited entry or limited entry permit and a premium limited entry or limited entry bonus point, your application will be rejected.
- * If you apply for more than one premium limited entry or limited entry bonus point choice, your application will be rejected.
- * If you apply for a once-in-a-lifetime permit and a once-in-a-lifetime bonus point, your application will be rejected.
- * If you apply for more than one once-in-a-lifetime bonus point choice, your application will be rejected.
- * If you are applying with a group for a deer, elk or pronghorn permit and wish to apply for your bonus point for a once-in-a-lifetime species, you MUST submit a separate application for the bonus point. You cannot apply as a group for bonus points.
- * General permit applications do not effect bonus points. You will receive a bonus point for your unsuccessful premium limited entry, limited entry or CWMU application if you draw a general permit.

- * The Division shall retain bonus point records from 1996 to present.

How your bonus points work in the draw:

- * Fifty percent (odd numbers are rounded down) of the permits for each hunt unit and species are reserved for applicants with the greatest number of bonus points.
- * You receive a random drawing number for each species you apply for and every bonus point you have for that species. Your lowest random number is then used in the drawing.
- * Bonus points are averaged and rounded down when two or more applicants apply as a group. For example, if two hunters apply as a group, hunter A with 7 bonus points and hunter B with 0 bonus points, the bonus points are averaged (3.5) and rounded down to 3. You receive 3 random numbers for the bonus points and 1 random number for the group application, for a total of 4 random numbers. The lowest random number is used in the drawing.

For additional information about group applications and bonus points see Section XVII.B and XVII.J.

You cannot apply nor receive a BONUS POINT if...

- * You are currently under a waiting period for that species.
- * You have already obtained a permit for that once-in-a-lifetime species.
- * You are currently under wildlife license suspension for big game hunting.

Preference points

- * Preference points may only be obtained by applying for a general deer permit through the drawing. The application period is January 2–30, 2004.
- * You must include a $5 handling fee to apply for a preference point.
- * Preference points are used to ensure that applicants who are unsuccessful or apply for a preference point in the drawing for general buck deer permits will have first preference in the next year's drawing for the respective permits. A single preference point is awarded to each applicant who submits a valid unsuccessful application — or to an applicant who submits a valid application only applying for a preference point.
- * Permits are reserved for those applicants with preference points. Once those applicants with preference points are allocated permits, any remaining permits will be available for remaining applicants.
- * If there are more applicants with preference points than available permits, a random selection will occur among those applicants and those who are unsuccessful will receive an additional preference point for the following year's drawing.
- * General buck deer permits are allocated by region for rifle and muzzleloader. Therefore, an applicant should not list a region choice more than once. If the applicant's first region permit choice is not drawn, it will be because the region allocation has been issued.
- * A preference point will not be issued if an applicant is successful in drawing any permit regardless of the region or choice number. For example, if an applicant chooses Southeastern Region as first choice and Northern Region as second choice, and the applicant draws the Northern Region permit, a preference point will not be awarded.

- * Preference points awarded in the drawing are not forfeited for obtaining a permit over-the-counter.
- * The Division shall retain preference point records from the year 2000 to present.

How your preference points work in the draw:

- * You receive a random drawing number for applying in the draw and for every preference point you have. Your lowest random number is then used in the drawing.
- * Preference points are averaged and rounded down when two or more applicants apply as a group. For example, if two hunters apply as a group, hunter A with 3 preference points and hunter B with 0 preference points, the preference points are averaged (1.5) and rounded down to 1. You receive 1 random number for the preference point and 1 random number for the group application, for a total of 2 random numbers. The lowest random number is used in the drawing.
- * Applicants who apply for a general deer permit will receive a preference point even if successful in obtaining a premium limited entry, limited entry or CWMU deer or elk permit in the drawing.

For additional information about group applications and preference points see Section XVIII.B and XVIII.I.

You cannot apply for a PREFERENCE POINT if you are currently under wildlife license suspension for big game hunting.

XXVI. Limited entry and general deer private landowner permits

R657-43

(1) A limited number of limited entry landowner permits are available to landowners for limited entry buck deer, bull elk and buck pronghorn units.

(2) Landowners interested in requesting permits must submit an application to the Division wildlife biologist in the appropriate region by September 1, 2004 for permits in the subsequent year. Applications are available from the same appropriate regional Division office.

(3) Any person who obtains a limited entry landowner permit is subject to all waiting periods as provided under Section XVII.I. Waiting Periods.

(4) Limited entry landowner permits may be obtained from Division offices with a voucher obtained from the landowner.

(5) General buck deer landowner permits are available to landowners whose property is located within a general regional hunt boundary area. For information, applications and requirements, please contact the appropriate regional Division office.

XXVII. Depredation hunter pool permits

R657-44

(1) When deer, elk or pronghorn are causing damage, hunts not listed in this proclamation may be held. These hunts occur on short notice, involve small areas, and are limited to only a few hunters.

(2) Hunters shall be selected pursuant to Subsections (3), (4), and (5).

(3) Pre-season depredation hunters shall be selected using:

(a) hunters possessing a limited entry buck deer, bull elk, or buck pronghorn permit for that limited entry unit;

(b) hunters from the alternate drawing list for that limited entry unit; or

(c) general permittees for that unit through the depredation hunter pool, provided the animals being hunted are determined by the appropriate regional Division representative, to not come from a limited entry unit.

(4) Post-season depredation hunters shall be selected using:

(a) hunters from the alternate drawing list for that limited entry unit;

(b) hunters from the alternate drawing list from the nearest adjacent limited entry unit; or

(c) general permittees for that unit through the depredation hunter pool, provided the animals being hunted are determined by the appropriate regional Division representative, to not come from a limited entry unit.

(5) Antlerless depredation hunters shall be selected using:

(a) hunters possessing an antlerless deer, elk, or doe pronghorn permit for that unit;

(b) hunters from the alternate drawing list for that unit; or

(c) the depredation hunter pool.

(6) If a hunter is selected from the alternate drawing list for a depredation hunt in a limited entry area and harvests a trophy animal, that person shall lose their bonus points and incur the appropriate waiting period as provided in Rule R657-5 and this proclamation

(7) A hunter pool application does not affect eligibility to apply for any other big game permit. However, hunters who participate in any deer, elk, or pronghorn depredation hunt may not possess an additional permit for that species during the same year, except as provided in Rule R657-5 and this proclamation.

(8) Applications must be sent to the appropriate regional Division office for the area requested.

(9)(a) Applications must be received at the appropriate regional Division office by October 1, 2004.

(b) Applications received after October 1, 2004, may be used if adequate numbers of applicants are not available to satisfy depredation situations.

(10) Hunters who have not obtained the appropriate deer, elk, or pronghorn permit may purchase an appropriate permit.

XXVIII. Cooperative Wildlife Management Units (CWMUs)

Less than one-fourth of Utah's 54.3 million acres are in private ownership, but more than 60% of the state's big game winter range occurs on private land. Utah is growing rapidly and its private rangelands face increasing pressure from expanding suburban and urban development. These critical circumstances have lead to the creation of the Cooperative Wildlife Management Unit Program.

Cooperative Wildlife Management Units (CWMUs) are private land areas that in addition to ranching and other private uses are also managed for big game species in partnership with the Division of Wildlife Resources. While big game animals are the principle species managed for, other wildlife also benefit.

The CWMU Program, through allocation of big game hunting permit vouchers to landowners, provides economic incentive to the owners to keep private range and forest lands in wildlife habitat rather than succumbing to development. CWMUs also allow for free public hunting access onto the private lands enrolled in the program.

Some public land is included in certain CWMUs because it is isolated by private ownership. In other cases it may be included in order to clarify unit boundaries and to improve the ability to manage the resident wildlife. When public lands are included, the public is compensated with additional hunting opportunity.

Both private and public hunters generally enjoy greater hunting benefits on CWMUs in the form of improved harvest success and reduced hunter competition. While good opportunity exists for hunters to take mature animals, harvest is not guaranteed, and the quality of male animals may differ greatly between units. If it is the hunter's goal to harvest a "trophy" animal, you must contact the landowner/operator of the specific unit in order to better understand trophy potential prior to applying for the hunt.

Successful applicants are responsible for contacting the CWMU operator to obtain the following:

(a) Hunting dates of guaranteed access within the legal CWMU hunting season framework. Realize that both the operator and the hunter must schedule around individual needs — be realistic and patient.

(b) A map of the CWMU showing access and the acreage you will be allowed to hunt. The CWMU acreage should be equally available to private and public CWMU hunters.

(c) A copy of rules. CWMUs are allowed to develop rules by which hunters invited onto the units are expected to comply. Rules may include such requirements as no pre-season scouting, checking into and out of the unit daily, limited vehicle access, no overnight camping, a marksmanship test, limiting the number of hunting companions, etc. Hunters may be asked to leave a CWMU for failure to abide by reasonable rules of the CWMU (Utah Code 23-23-11).

Complaint Process: Hunters wishing to lodge complaints against a CWMU should contact the Division immediately. Biologists and Conservation Officers have access to forms by which complaints may be made. Otherwise, the complaint may be made to any Division personnel. Because time is of the essence, it is expected that the hunter and the operator will make every effort to resolve issues before they escalate to the Division level. If a problem cannot be resolved locally, it may be passed on to a CWMU

Cooperative Wildlife Management Units (CWMUs)

Advisory Committee. For more information on CWMUs, see Utah Admin. Code, Rule R657-37.

HOW TO OBTAIN CWMU PERMITS

- (1) The Division shall issue Cooperative Wildlife Management Unit permits for hunting big game to permittees:
 - (a) qualifying through a general public drawing; or
 - (b) named by the CWMU landowner or operator.
- (2) Residents may apply for any CWMU permits through the drawing or may obtain CWMU permit vouchers from the landowner or operator.
- (3) Nonresidents may not apply for buck deer, bull elk, buck pronghorn or bull moose CWMU permits through the drawing, but may obtain CWMU vouchers from the landowner or operator.

(4)(a) CWMU vouchers may be redeemed:

- (i) by mailing the vouchers to the Division, CWMU Licensing, 1594 W. No. Temple, Suite 2110, Box 146301, Salt Lake City, UT 84114, to obtain permits (please allow 10 to 14 days for processing); or
- (ii) over-the-counter at any Division office.

(5) Waiting periods apply to CWMU permits as provided in XVII.I. Waiting Periods.

(6) A person may not obtain more than one permit for each species of big game, except as provided in this proclamation, the Antlerless Addendum and Rule R657-42.

How to use the hunt tables

Permit numbers for 2004 will not be provided on the following tables in order to utilize up-to-date harvest and population census data. The 2004 permit numbers will be set by the Wildlife Board after the application period and prior to the big game drawing. The following tables provide the number of allocated permits and the number of applicants based upon their first choice for 2003. If there was a permit for residents or nonresidents in 2003, there will be at least one in 2004, unless noted in the hunt tables or in case of an emergency closure of the hunt unit. If no nonresident permits were available in 2003, there will be no permits in 2004, unless noted in the table.

Express Your Opinion — Attend Wildlife Public Meetings

To provide the public a way to give input to the Division of Wildlife Resources and the Utah Wildlife Board about wildlife management in Utah, Regional Advisory Councils were established throughout the state in the mid 1990s.

There are five RACs in Utah. Each consists of 12 to 15 members selected from the specific community or region. Each RAC has the following:

- two members who represent agriculture
- two members who represent sportsmen
- two members who represent non-consumptive use
- one member who represents business interests
- one member who is a locally appointed public official
- one member from the USDA Forest Service
- one member from the Bureau of Land Management
- two members of the public-at-large, who represent the general interests of the region
- where applicable, one member who represents Native American interests

Members are appointed by the executive director of the Department of Natural Resources, in consultation with the director of the Division of Wildlife Resources. Members may serve up to two, two-year terms. Each Division regional supervisor serves as the executive secretary for the RAC in his region, just as the Division director serves as the executive secretary for the Wildlife Board.

RACs hold meetings to hear public input about Division of Wildlife Resources proposals, including recommendations, biological data and information about the effects of wildlife. The RACs also gather information from their constituents, the public and government agencies, and make recommendations to the Wildlife Board in an advisory capacity.

Each RAC is charged with hearing different viewpoints and controversial issues. They must incorporate all perspectives and come to the decision that they feel is best for Utah's wildlife and its citizens.

Each RAC appoints a chairperson who attends Wildlife Board meetings and presents RAC recommendations to the Wildlife Board during an open public meeting.

The public is invited to give its input and comments to the RACs. After deliberating on the issues, RAC members vote. Motions that pass are taken to the Wildlife Board.

The Wildlife Board has the final decision making authority. Board members weigh heavily on RAC recommendations when making their final decisions.

From year to year, many of the same topics are addressed during the same month. The timeline is determined by when a specific proclamation needs to be available to the public. If you want to address a specific topic (for example, fishing regulations are discussed during the August RAC meetings) you need to attend the appropriate RAC meeting.

These dates are not set in stone but are adhered to as much as possible. If you plan to attend a RAC meeting, please contact the specific Division regional office to confirm the dates.

- RAC meetings in the Northeastern Region are held at the Vernal City Offices, 447 E. Main St. in Vernal.
- The Southeastern Region, meetings are held at the John Wesley Powell Museum, 885 E. Main St. in Green River.
- The Northern, Central and Southern regions meetings are held in a different location each month.

For information on where the meetings will be held, call the Division regional office in those regions or check the Division web site:

www.wildlife.utah.gov (Public Meetings)

Public input is the cornerstone to successful decision-making for the Division through the RAC and Board process.
